Prospective students are encouraged to attend classes on Wednesday prior to the conference and to participate in a special luncheon with the faculty on Friday. A seminary representative will be available throughout the conference to answer your questions and provide assistance as needed.

For those students attending MACP, the registration fee will be waived. Each fall Inter-City Baptist Church and Detroit Baptist Theological Seminary host the Mid-America Conference on Preaching. MACP is planned to encourage and equip those who preach God's Word to His people within the local church. The work of preaching is always an annual emphasis. However, each year we also focus on an important doctrinal and ministry issue.

This year we are focusing on an area of doctrinal truth—the ministry of the Holy Spirit—that is greatly abused and sadly neglected by various groups within professing Christianity. This doctrine involves key teaching essential to one's salvation, sanctification, and effective service. It also addresses a member of the triune godhead, the Comforter, the Holy Spirit. We invite you to join us for a time of thorough biblical study and fervent preaching on these great truths and our necessary response to them.
